Start a Backpack Meals Program

Help ensure children do not go hungry on the weekend

In the United States, 1 in 7 children wonder where their next meal is coming from. There are children and teens in your community who go home without knowing how often or how much they will have to eat over the weekend. Their grumbling stomachs affect their health, their ability to learn and their attitude. They need you to step up to help — and you can, in a cost-effective, plug-and-play manner, through our Backpack Meals program.

What are Backpack Meals?

With church and business partners like you, we collaborate with school boards and school administrators to provide hungry students with meals every weekend throughout the school year. Your partnership provides life-changing meals to students in your community.

How does the process work?

We need churches, community groups and business partners to "adopt a school" to ensure children and families in your community have access to food on the weekends. When you let us know you're ready to make a difference, we identify schools and students in your area who are in desperate need of assistance.

I am ready to feed children to change lives. What now?

INQUIRE TODAY

2. We will contact you to share local school needs and work through the details of an MOU.
3. We will provide the training and supplies that will help you build amazing relationships with schools in your community.

When you fill a kid's backpack with food you can fill their bellies and fill their hearts.
